Novack and Macey Attorneys Campbell and Moore Launch a New Web Application for Illinois Commercial Litigators, the “Illinois Litigation Rules App”

DECEMBER 17TH, 2014

Andrew D. Campbell

Andrew D. Campbell and Christopher S. Moore, partners with Novack and Macey LLP, are pleased to announce the upcoming launch of a new web application for Illinois attorneys, the “Illinois Litigation Rules App.” The App is currently in the final testing phase and will be live in January 2015.

“The App was created by commercial litigators for commercial litigators,” Campbell and Moore said. “It integrates – in an elegant and easy to use format – commonly invoked provisions of the Illinois Code of Civil Procedure and the Illinois Supreme Court Rules. Finding pertinent Code provisions and Rules can be a cumbersome and sometimes frustrating endeavor.” Campbell and Moore said they conceived and designed the application “to put the Code and Rules into one place in a portable and organized manner.”

Jell Creative, a local branding and digital marketing firm, was instrumental in creating this readily accessible resource for busy litigators.

The web application is accessible from all electronic devices – PCs, laptops, tablets and mobile phones. It will be available in January at no cost through the Novack and Macey website, novackmaceyarchive.jellcreative.com.

Novack and Macey is a 30-year-old Chicago-based commercial litigation firm representing clients throughout the country in a wide variety of disputes. For more information about the App, please contact Campbell at acampbell@novackmacey.com or Moore at cmoore@novackmacey.com
